RE

“Kali was our family dog. She has 2 weenie brothers, Maximus Prime (Max) and Mavis. Both of which she was absolutely jealous over when we brought them home. We would get the could shoulder and a scoff from her every day. Max and Mavis both, would get their food stolen and their beds swiped by her. Kali was very opinionated. But she grew to love them both. And even though they were small dogs, she played with them like they were fragile. Even in her old age, she was as playful as ever and she was the most patient dog I have ever seen with kids. The kids would put sunglasses on her, hats, build castles out of blocked either on her or next to her, and she just let them. She loved to sun bathe, roll in any dead thing she could find (often resorting in baths, which she hated), she loved pets, and she loved car rides. Most importantly she loved her family, and we love her. She's most definitely going to be missed. We love you Kali girl.

Don't forget her feline brother, Jeffrey! She hated cats, but Jeffrey was her honorary puppy.

“ Whenever I would hear a noise outside late at night, I would call Kali's mom and dad to have her let outside. She was such a good girl. 🥺
